Others

- The Israeli state has asked the High Court for an additional seven months to demolish the Giv'at 'Assaf outpost in the West Bank, after it had previously committed to demolish it by the end of next week. Giv'at 'Assaf was established in 2001. The High Court has been dealing with the Giv'at 'Assaf case since 2007 when Peace Now petitioned the High Court, asking for the court to order the demolition of six illegal outposts, including Giv'at 'Assaf. In March 2011, the state announced that the outpost would be demolished by the end of that year. At the end of 2011, the state asked for a six-month extension to July 1, 2012, so that the matter could be resolved in a peaceful manner. Now the state is asking for another extension, this time for seven months. According to the state, the Civil Administration has received new information regarding Giv'at 'Assaf that needs to be checked and clarified. Haaretz (June 22, 2012)
