- Israeli settlers attacked olive harvesters with rocks in the town of Huwwara, south of the northern West Bank city of Nablus, injuring at least three harvesters. A group of settlers threw rocks at farmers as they were picking olive fruits in the area of al-Naqqar, injuring three of them with bruises. - Israeli settlers stole the olive harvest of Palestinian farmers near the village of Deir al-Hatab, to the east of Nablus city. A number of Palestinian farmers entered their olive groves in the area of Ras Hazem, located near the settlement of Alon Moreh, but they were completely shocked to find out that Israeli settlers had stolen their harvest and destroyed some of the trees. He slammed the settlers' attacks against olive harvesters, which happen under the watch of Israeli Occupation Army (IOA), as a policy intended to discourage Palestinians from tending to their farmlands. ## Home Demolition & Demolition threats

- Israel's Jerusalem municipality ordered the Palestinian citizen Luay Obeid to demolish his own home in al-Isawiya village, northeast of Jerusalem.

The Israeli municipality crews stormed the village in the early morning hours and ordered him to demolish his home. Otherwise the municipality would carry out the demolition and force him to pay a high fine. The home, built on an area of 130 square meters, is still under construction. The Israeli Occupation Army (IOA) OA had repeatedly phoned his son to pressure him to demolish the home, noting that his son hired a lawyer to appeal against the demolition order, a move that was rejected by Israeli courts.
