Erection of Israeli Outposts

- Israel Okays Connecting Illegal West Bank Outposts to Power Grid: The plan, which would also hook up Palestinian communities to power and carve a path to legalization for both illegal Jewish outposts and Palestinian villages, ignited uproar among right-wing Israeli lawmakers. srael's Attorney General's Office has approved connecting illegal West Bank

Jewish outposts that were built without Israeli government approval to the electricity grid, in a plan that would also give more weight to diplomatic considerations. According to a legal opinion issued by Deputy Attorney General Carmit Yulis, only outposts that were built on land declared state-owned by Israel will be connected, thereby excluding outposts built on privately owned Palestinian land. The opinion also states that equal consideration must be given to Palestinian communities, in accordance with international law, meaning that those in Area C – the area of the West Bank under full Israeli civil and military control – must also be connected to the grid. However, according to political sources, the number of Palestinian villages connected to the grid will be comparatively smaller as the number of outposts. (Haaretz 13 April 2022)
