Violations of the Israeli occupation Army

- Israeli soldiers closed the main entrance of the Al-Jalazoun refugee camp, north of the central West Bank city of Ramallah. Several army jeeps invaded the area and blocked the main entrance of the refugee camp before preventing the Palestinians from entering or leaving it. The Palestinians had to take alternate, rough unpaved routes to leave the refugee camp on their way to their destinations. It is worth mentioning that the Israeli army started, several weeks ago, building sections of the illegal Annexation Wall east of the refugee camp, an issue that led to frequent closures and obstruction of Palestinian traffic. - On Thursday dawn, Israeli soldiers injured sixty-four Palestinians, including children and an infant, in Nablus, in the northern part of the occupied West Bank. Ahmad Jibril, the head of the Emergency Department at the Palestinian Red Crescent Society (PRCS) in Nablus, said the soldiers shot a young man with a live round in the thigh before the medics rushed him to a hospital in the city. Jibril added that the soldiers shot sixteen Palestinians with rubber-coated steel bullets, including four who were hospitalized for further treatment. PRCS medics also treated forty Palestinians who suffered the severe effects of tear gas inhalation, including four children and an infant who were rushed to Rafidia hospital for further treatment. Jibril stated that five Palestinians suffered burns from Israeli concussion grenades and gas bombs, and two were injured after falling while the soldiers were chasing them. Two Palestinian families had to be evacuated from their homes due to the intensity of the Israeli gas bombs. The Israeli army said three Israelis, including a military commander, were injured during exchanges of fire with Palestinian fighters near Joseph's Tombs area, in Nablus after the army accompanied hundreds of colonizers into the site. - Israeli police today barred an Aqsa Mosque guard from entering the al-Aqsa mosque compound in Jerusalem's Old City for one week, according to local sources. They said police arrested the guard, Isam Najib, this morning and ordered him not to enter the compound, where he works, for one week before releasing him. Another guard, who was identified as Arafat Najib, was also summoned for interrogation. In the meantime, the director of the Volunteer for Hope, an organization in the occupied Jerusalem neighborhood of Beit Hanina, Silvia Abu Laban, was summoned to appear before the Israeli intelligence for interrogation. To be noted, Abu Labban was previously detained and subjected to questioning many times by Israel. (Wafa 30 June 2022)

Israeli Settler Violence

- A group of Israeli colonizers assaulted a Palestinian man near Ramallah in the central West Bank, causing serious wounds to his face, including his jaw, left cheek, and eye socket. The Palestinian, Arafat Tahhan from occupied Jerusalem, was heading to his land in Turmus Ayya town, north of Ramallah, in the central West Bank, when the colonizers ambushed his car. He was with his children when what appears to be a preplanned attack occurred after he was ambushed and trapped, unable to drive away. The colonizers started throwing stones at them; they threw stones at him and his new car, causing damage and wounding him in the eye. His children, 7, 9, and 14 years of age, suffered severe anxiety attacks. At approximately 9 in the morning, the colonizers coming down from the mountain and rushing towards us before they started throwing stones at them. They tried to turn around and drive away, but they already closed the road with rocks; they were trapped, they had no way to go, and the colonizers started assaulting us." (IMEMC 30 June 2022)
- Israeli settlers today set Palestinian-owned lands on fire in the village of Husan, near the city of Bethlehem in the south of the occupied West Bank. A group of Israeli settlers set fire to large swathes of land planted with olives and grapes, destroying hundreds of trees. (Wafa 30 June 2022)
